

KERRIE M. DROBAN

AUTHOR/ATTORNEY

PROFILE

Kerrie Droban is an award-winning author of fiction, poetry, true crime and memoir. She is also a criminal defense attorney with decades of experience in capital litigation and post-conviction investigation. Kerrie has written five best-selling true crime memoirs, one of which Vagos, Mongols & Outlaws: My Infiltrations into America's Deadliest Biker Gangs, was made into a television series called Gangland Undercover and produced by the History Channel. Running with the Devil: The True Story of the ATF's Infiltration of the Hells Angels, won the USA News National Book Award for best True Crime and Prodigal Father, Pagan Son: My Life Born Into Madness is a two-time winner of the USA News National Book Award for Best True Crime and Best Memoir. Her book A Socialite Scorned: The Murder of Gary Triano was featured on American Greed, Dateline and Investigation ID, among other national television shows. The Last Chicago Boss: The True Story of Big Pete and the Chicago Outlaws Motorcycle Club chronicles the rise of the gang's "Godfather" and highlights the symbiotic relationship between The Outlaws and the Mafia.

BOOK REVIEWS

Prodigal Father Pagan Son

“A one of a kind true tale of being born into madness... and rising above it,” – Robert K. Tanenbaum, New York Times best-selling author of Betrayed and Captured

Running with the Devil

“Kerrie is a brilliant and talented author, and the book is a compelling masterpiece of contemporary nonfiction.” – Burl Barer, Edgar Award-winning author and host of Outlaw Radio

Vagos, Mongols and Outlaws

“Droban’s unrelenting depiction of the stupidity and brutality in the Vagos biker world... makes [this] story powerful.” – Publisher’s Weekly
